Deacon Patricia and Dennis Marks

Imagine growing up in New York City a block away from Riverside Drive in a basement flat of a brownstone on West 85th Street. Imagine playing on the "stoop" with the kids in the neighborhood or under the big tree that grew in front of the synagogue on the block. Imagine going regularly to the Museum of Natural History to see the dinosaurs and to the Metropolitan Museum to see the Impressionist paintings. Sita Patricia Marks did all of these as a child.

She was born at the Flower Fifth Avenue Hospital to Mary Csaky and LeRoy Smith. Her mother was a housewife of Hungarian descent who had an early career as a newspaper reporter and a hobby as a photographer. After her father served in the Army during World War II in the South Pacific, he worked for the Army & Air Force Exchange Service in charge of printed matter. He was an artist who had trained at the Art Students' League and worked at the Disney Corporation in California before the war.

"My father was a fine artist," said Patricia. "He worked in oils, water colors, and acrylics. He was a member of the Salmagundi Club in New York. He judged art shows, gave one-man shows, taught classes, and taught me to draw and paint, letting me use his lovely pastels and brushes when I was just a child. One of my favorite memories is sitting near him and 'painting' while he had his easel all set up. I can still smell the apple-scented pipe tobacco he used."

Patricia attended P.S. 9, the neighborhood elementary school. Years later she discovered that Christ Church member Jim Drazdowski also lived in the neighborhood and attended that school. Patricia next attended Joan of Arc Junior High School, Hanover Park High School, then Douglass College, the women's coordinate of Rutgers University. Happy Ingeman also graduated from Douglass College. Patricia entered the college as a Latin major.

"Because I really didn't want to teach, I switched to English," said Patricia. "And then because I didn't want to become a secretary, but rather a writer, I refused to learn how to type properly. I still type in my own quirky way."

She got a job after graduation at Bamberger's, a Macy's branch in Newark, New Jersey. When she had saved up enough money, she sailed to Europe on the S.S.

AN EASTER INVITATION

The center of our faith as Christians is the Resurrection of our Lord, Jesus Christ, Easter Day, often called the Queen of Feasts in the church. The very central moment of that day is the joyous proclamation, "Alleluia, He is Risen" and the response "He is Risen, indeed!" In that moment light and color and music are restored to the church, dispelling the darkness that has descended upon it in the days just past. The darkness is important. To truly understand and appreciate the triumph of light to be found in Easter, we should experience the services of the preceding week, Holy Week. At Christ Church we observe the Stations of the Cross on the Wednesday of Holy Week. The stations represent the Via Dolorosa, the path Our Lord walked from His trial to the Cross. It is in effect a pilgrimage in His steps. On Maundy Thursday Christ Church observes the events of His Last Supper with His Disciples, His washing of their feet, and His departure to the Garden of Gethsemane. On His departure the church and sanctuary are stripped of light and color signifying that He is gone. A portion of the Blessed Sacrament is reserved at an Altar of Repose, and the parish is invited to keep watch throughout the night, a response to Our Lord's question to His Disciples, "Can you not keep watch with me one hour?" On Friday, Good Friday, we observe the Passion Gospel of our Lord's Crucifixion; the last sacrament is consumed, and the church lies in darkness. He is not here. Holy Saturday is the day of quiet anticipation for us, a day of expectation. Easter Day begins with The Great Vigil of Easter, a joy-filled service in which the great proclamation is made. It is arguably the most important feast of all the year. Christ Church celebrates three more Eucharists on Easter morning and ends with a celebration of Great Paschal Vespers.

I would like to extend a personal invitation to you to come and take part in the services of each day of Holy Week and the great celebration of Easter.

In Christ,
Peter+

Groote Beer, a Dutch ship, and travelled across the continent with a very small bag stopping at as many museums as she could.

Next she had a job at the Hayden Book Company, writing book blurbs for technical books; then as the assistant editor of Photographic Trade News.

Patricia met her husband Dennis while trying to avoid a blind date.

"I went to Lewisohn Stadium to hear a jazz concert, and took a book to amuse myself while I waited, because I had no intention of speaking to anyone," said Patricia. "And then this nice young man started talking to me about the book, which was part of Tolkien's trilogy; and as he confesses, he went home and borrowed the books from his roommate and read them all before our date the next weekend."

Dennis and Patricia were married November 30, 1968 in East Lansing, Michigan. Patricia held a fellowship for three years at Michigan State University and earned a Ph.D. in English in 1970. Dennis earned a Ph.D. in Astronomy from the University of Michigan in 1970. After a year in Toronto, where Dennis held a post-doctoral position, they moved to Valdosta with two positions at Valdosta State College.

Christ Church member Dr. Willa Valencia, whom Patricia describes as a woman of great faith, hired her sight unseen for a position in the English Department.

During her 30-year career at Valdosta State, Dr. Marks taught the British novel, Victorian Poetry and Prose, Research and Criticism, Modern Drama, World Literature, and Composition, as well as graduate seminars in Dickens and Hawthorne and in Victorian culture. She received many honors during this time, including the Governor's Award in the Humanities in 2000, the Regents' Distinguished Professor for Teaching and Learning in 1996; the American Association of Higher Education Faculty Citizenship Award in 1994; and Honorable Patricia Marks' interest in knitting led her to start the Stitchers of Love group in 2004.

Mention, South Atlantic Association Department of English Teaching Award. In addition, she is a member of several honor societies including Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Lambda Delta, Cardinal Key, and Omicron Delta Kappa. She is the author of five books, over 40 articles, and 24 academic papers.

Patricia has several collections: Department 56 Dickens Village; lithographs from Vanity Fair; and several 19th Century periodicals.

Her interest in knitting led her to start the Stitchers of Love group in 2004. The group enjoys gathering on Sunday afternoons to work together, teaching others to knit and crochet, sharing patterns, and creating knitted items for themselves and others such as "care bears" for child victims in auto accidents, prayer shawls, and baby blankets for the victims of Hurricane Katrina. The items they create are often blessed after Wednesday evening services.

Patricia and Dennis Marks

One day Deacon Marks found a family from a neighboring apartment visiting the grave of a rabbit they had buried under a hand-made cross near the church. "We joined hands and said a prayer of thankfulness for all God's creatures and for the loving hearts that cared for them," she said.

Patricia and Dennis have travelled in Europe, China, the Baltics, Antarctica, and many cities in the U.S. "I'd love to go to the Arctic and see ice bears," she said.

Dennis is an astrophysicist. He also had a 30-year career at Valdosta State where he served as Professor and Head of the Department of Physics, Astronomy and Geosciences. He is continuing his research on the unification of quantum mechanics and general relativity. He serves the community through the Rotary Club of Valdosta, the Valdosta Civic Roundtable, and the Valdosta-Lowndes Chamber of Commerce. He is active with the Democratic Party at the county, congressional district, and state levels.

"Before I retired from VSU in 2001, Nancy Mills brought a labyrinth to Christ Church," said Patricia. "I think that was the beginning of my journey to become a deacon."

Described by Fr. Tom Downs as a "preachin' teachin' deacon," Patricia serves on the Diocesan Deacons' Council, as the Homiletics Chaplain for the Deacon School for Ministry, and on the Diocesan Communications Commission. She developed the Web sites for the deacons of the diocese, the Stitchers of Love, and the Sermons page of the Christ Church site. She frequently contributes book reviews to The Vineyard. She has had two meditations published in the Anglican Digest, the most recent for Lent 2009. She also works with the elderly and has recently created a "Helping Hands" ministry to provide clothing, toiletries, and other necessary items for the Haven, a Valdosta shelter for women and children who are victims of domestic violence.

"It is a joy and a privilege to serve at Christ Church," she said. "I am thankful to be part of such an active and welcoming church family."

Deacon Marks knit a prayer shawl for Nancy Richardson, who is studying to become a deacon.

Caught Up in Canterbury

by Savannah E. Spivey

College students get caught up. We find ourselves unintentionally living each day with the mundane goal of finishing our homework and sleeping. If this sounds a bit humdrum and monotonous, welcome to what college can be like if it weren't for fantastic organizations like the Canterbury Club.

I came to Valdosta State University completely on my own, hoping to fit in somewhere quickly. I automatically turned to my Episcopal family for acceptance. The welcome was exactly what I needed between study sessions and reading binges in the never-closing library. My to-do list brightened on Wednesday nights at 6:00 when I attended the short service followed by a fantastic home-cooked meal. When Father Peter asked me about helping reinvigorate the Canterbury Club here at VSU, the prospect was incredibly exciting. With an abundance of help from Father Peter, Liz Powell, and Pat Bezona, the Canterbury Club got started – slowly but surely.

Although I went home almost every weekend during my first semester, I made sure to be back in time for our fellowship time together at 5:00 on Sunday afternoons. I'm certain we were always expecting a nice meal and good friends to be there, welcoming us back to Valdosta for another school week. The first semester of the Club began slowly, with only seven or eight of us meeting on a weekly basis. However, we have grown and are now hosting someone new almost each week.

I remember one of my favorite memories from the Club so far. Towards the end of the fall semester, we gathered at the Bezonas' lovely home for a Christmas party. We all brought two small gifts for our gift exchange: one for Toys for Tots and one to share with a friend. We played ping-pong, ate delicious food, and made some new friends. I truly enjoyed getting to know everyone a little bit better, and the "homey" atmosphere of the Bezona's home only strengthened the Christmas spirit.

I feel truly blessed to be a part of this organization. I look forward to our growth over the next year. Gathering together to begin yet another school week could not be celebrated in a more relaxing way. A nice meal, board games, and Compline serve us well as we spend time with fellow Christians. Hopefully in the future, we can incorporate more Bible study into our meetings as we continue to grow and discover God's unconditional love for us.

As monotonous as our lives may seem, we college students can become quickly overwhelmed by life. The Canterbury Club offers peace, love, and guidance for any college student at any place in his or her spiritual journey. Next time you feel "caught up" with schoolwork, career work, or family and friendship drama, stop by the peaceful Louttit House on Sunday at 5:00. We will be there to welcome and accept you exactly as you are – overwhelmed and all.

Maundy Thursday Soup Makers Needed

On April 9th the Christ Church community will gather at 5 p.m. before the 6 p.m. Maundy Thursday evening service for a simple meal of soup, cheese, bread, and wine --reminiscent of those Agape meals, or love feasts, shared by the early church. Please call the church office at 242-5115 or sign up on the list in the parish hall if you are willing to make a pot of soup.

By Susan Elliott

In preparation for Lent, the Middle School Sunday School class made an "Alleluia" Banner. The thought behind this is that we aren't supposed to say "Alleluia" during Lent, since it is a time of repentance. So we got all of our "Alleluias" out of our system and buried them on Lent 1. The class decided to invite the entire congregation to "bury their alleluias." So they took the banner to the Parish Hall for parishioners to sign on Shrove Tuesday. Robbie Beeland and Carter Elliott then buried the banner in the Prayer Garden. It will be "resurrected" Easter Sunday with our Lord! This is just one of the many object lessons our middle schoolers experience to make the Gospel real and relevant to them. They thank the congregation for their participation!

Once again the Senior Youth prepared the Shrove Tuesday Pancake Supper for the Parish with much enthusiasm and great success! Our young folks began arriving around 4:00 p.m. to heat up the donated griddles and cooked over three "industrial strength" size bags of pancake mix. They also cooked 9 pounds of bacon of which not even a crumble was left! They appreciate the support of the congregation as we all "clean out our pantries and prepare for our Lord's time in the wilderness." This year's donations - $200.00 - directly and immediately supported LAMP's "Homeless 4 a Night" project which was held the following Friday night throughout Valdosta.

We have an incredibly spiritual and thoughtful group of young people in our parish and Christ Church should feel very confident about our future, especially with regard to community outreach. God has truly blessed us with these incredible young people and fantastic mentors!

Miller House prepared to move

Workmen disassembled the chimneys of the Miller House in preparation for moving the house to a property owned by the Lowndes Area Ministries to People (LAMP). Bricks were offered to anyone who would carry them away. In a photo below, Dick Saeger loads his car with some of the bricks. Photographs by Phyllis Hiers and Patricia Marks.

Car donated to Christ Episcopal Church

Wayne Ellerbee donated a 2000 C70 Volvo silver convertible with a new black top to Christ Episcopal Church. It is offered for sale at $5,000 with proceeds benefitting the church. Contact the church office at 242-5115 for further information.

Softball team begins practice

The Christ Episcopal Church softball team practices Tuesday evenings at 6:30 p.m. at Freedom Park on Guest Road. The games will begin during Easter Week, and the full schedule will be posted on the parish hall bulletin board. Come to the games and support our team!

HOMELESS FOR A NIGHT

On March 6th, our college students participated in Homeless For a Night. They arrived at Christ Church around 7 p.m. with boxes and sleeping bags. They heard from the Lowndes Area Ministry to People (LAMP) Director Heath Strickland about the struggles of our area's homeless population as well as from a former homeless person. The students raised almost $400 to be donated to LAMP! Saber Simmons and Eric Herndon were the biggest money-raisers with almost $200 between the two of them. We should be very proud of our young adults for their dedication to our church and community!

KINGDOM OF THE SON Vacation Bible School

This year Vacation Bible School will be held May 31st through June 3rd. Mark your calendars. Our curriculum will be based on the Lord's Prayer and enhanced by a Safari theme. If you have anything that looks safari-ish, please bring it by the church anytime. If you would like to help in any way, please e-mail Beth Baker at <bethbaker@bellsouth.net>. We need people to teach, to help with crafts, to prepare and serve snacks, and to organize and supervise outdoor activities.

EASTER EGGS NEEDED

Plastic eggs are needed for this year's Easter Egg Hunt! We need eggs that are filled with wrapped candy. Please drop them off at the office any time before Maundy Thursday so that we know how many we have to purchase.

Christ Church Looks Back

by Joseph A. Tomberlin

Dr. Joseph Tomberlin

As reported in the March

Vineyard, Senior Warden Jerome Tillman informed the Vestry on September 5, 1948, that the money on hand was insufficient to complete the entire Christ Church building project. Apparently, construction of the Parish Hall was to be delayed. In the October 3, 1948, Vestry meeting, though, someone floated the idea of "a temporary ex-army building for use as a Parish Hall." Vicar Clifton H. White and a vestryman, Mr. Robinson, were assigned "to secure information on the subject."

At the meeting of November 7, 1948, letters from Senator Walter F. George and Representative Don Wheeler disclosed that the nearest available surplus building was at Boca Raton, Florida. Moreover, the cost of moving such a structure several hundred miles was "out of reason." Therefore, further discussion of this alternative was delayed until Bishop Middleton S. Barnwell's visit to Christ Church on November 19, 1948.

Minutes of the called Vestry meeting with Bishop Barnwell on the 19th tersely note, "The question of a temporary building [to serve as Parish Hall] was discussed and voted down." The Bishop offered encouragement and declared that inclusion in the 1949 budget of $1800 as a "debt retirement and interest fund" meant Christ Church should have "no difficulty

CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Reverend Clifton H. White, Vicar, Valdosta – Georgia

MINUTES OF THE VESTRY, IN MEETING ASSEMBLED NOVEMBER 7, 1948

Those present were Rev. Clifton H. White and Messrs. Tillman, Robinson, Carroll, Dawson, Morrison, Fry, and Macks.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Rev. White reported in reference to the temporary building suggested as a Parish Hall. Letters had been received from both Senator [Walter F.] George and Representative [Don] Wheeler advising that there would be nothing available nearer than Boca Raton, and investigation of costs involved indicated that the expense would be out of reason. It was agreed to postpone the matter until we could talk it over with the Bishop on his visit on the 19th.

The question of Church furnishings was discussed. No worthwhile bids had been received except from Amidon for the furnishings, exclusive of pews. It was agreed that action had to be taken and that if no other offerings were received in short order, the furnishings would be ordered from Amidon.

Mr. Fry reported on the carpet situation and it was suggested that carpet and flooring should be referred to Mr. [Lloyd] Greer and report made directly to the Building Committee who would handle the situation.

An extra heat duct from the heating unit to the Northwest corner of the building was approved for consideration by the architect and contractor, if the expense involved were not out of reason. The question of sand blast finish of the interior vs. aquella finish was referred to the Building Committee for final action.

The 1949 budget was discussed and items totaling approximately $4600.00 were approved, plus a special debt retirement and interest fund of $1800.00. Detail[ed] figures will be prepared by Rev. White and all parishioners advised thereof. Rev. White distributed booklets and lists of parishioners on whom the various members will call prior to the parish supper, scheduled for the 19th.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

Robert G. Macks, Clerk of the Vestry

whatsoever in borrowing the additional money needed for the completion of the Parish Hall at this time." He was, he said, "heartily in favor of going ahead with the project" especially because H.G. Tinker, the contractor, had offered a thousand dollar reduction in the cost of the Parish Hall if construction could begin "at once." Bishop Barnwell recommended that Christ Church plan to proceed immediately, promising "his full cooperation." The only condition he imposed was that pledges from parishioners cover the entire proposed 1949 budget of $6400, including the debt retirement fund.

More on this story in the May issue of The Vineyard.

Iraq Pencil and Paper Project

The photos at right of the Iraq school opening were taken in October 2008, when Master Sgt. Tom Price, nephew of the project coordinator Katherine Mayer, was still in Iraq. Price, pictured in full battle gear in the photo on the bottom left, has since returned to the U.S. We are waiting for the new contact address for this year, and are still collecting money and supplies and holding them. On March 10, 2009, Katherine Mayer made a presentation about the project at the Valdosta Civitan Club. She is willing to make presentations at other organizations' meetings. If you would like her to speak to your club or organization, please contact her.

Youth Car Wash

Our young people washed cars in the church parking lot between the services on March 15, 2009, and raised over $450. Half will go to Episcopal Youth and Children's Services, and half will go to Episcopal Relief and Development (ERD). The kids picked out a few things that they wanted to specifically purchase through ERD that will help improve the lives of children and families worldwide.

EPISCOPELICANS flock to Seaside, Florida

The Episcopelicans gathered on the coldest and windiest weekend this season to run and walk the Seaside Half Marathon/5K Walk on March 1, 2009. It was such a fun-filled and loving weekend! Some began their descent on Thursday, while others flew in Friday and Saturday. Delicious meals at Pandora's and The Red Bar were shared by all. If 5K's are your thing, consider joining this fun group for more activities on the horizon. We have a group on Facebook or contact Beth Baker for more info!
